

Boston Restaurant Talk

Amsterdam Falafelshop to Open Third Location in the Boston Area

FRIDAY, AUGUST 14, 2015

A Washington, DC-based falafel shop that currently has two locations in the Boston area is planning to open a third.

An article in The Buffalo News today confirms what a post from All Points PR mentioned back in June, that a third location of Amsterdam Falafelshop is in development somewhere in or around Boston. In addition to the upcoming Boston-area shop, the group of eateries is also looking to open additional outlets in the Buffalo area as well as in Dallas, Miami, Philadelphia, and Washington, D.C.

As soon as we find out an exact address for the third Boston-area location of Amsterdam Falafelshop (and when it might open), we will post an update here.

Amsterdam Falafelshop first opened in Somerville's Davis Square in July of 2012, with a second shop opening in the Kenmore Square section of Boston in March of this year. Its website can be found at <http://www.falafelshop.com/>